

I have been a regular listener of radio for over thirty years. Not since the birth of wireless radio has something as revolutionary come along as XM satellite radio. This one company has truly revived radio to its once greatness in terms of information and entertainment. This medium was born because of traditional radio's failure to serve the public interest. Now XM is offering local weather and traffic. What better way to serve the public. Along with Amber alerts and breaking news, XM is becoming the most efficient means to inform the public. I believe any effort to restrict this nascent medium would be a disservice to the public at large. Please reject HR 4026. Thomas and Diane Walker
